POLICE METHODS PLEASED CHINESE

Mr. Chang, Mr. Wong's Secretary, Thinks We Have a Fine Lot of Crooks.

HE ALSO LIKED OUR GALLOWS

Distinguished Foreigner Pays a Visit to Police Headquarters and Is Much Pleased.

When Chang You-Tong, secretary to Wong Kai-Kah, China's commissioner to the World's Fair, returns to the Flowery Kingdom, he will carry with him ideas on how to run the Chinese police department just like our own is run. Mr. Chang was a most delighted and interested visitor to the Four Courts Saturday morning.

Mr. Chang inspected the rogues' gallery, the Bertillon system of measuring criminals, the methods of making police reports, the holdover, the jail and, last, but not least, Chief of Detectives Desmond's own famous, copyright-applied-for process of "swatting."

When he went away from the Four Courts Chang had in his possession one police manual, one small police report, one copy of the police souvenir, one dictionary of police slang, one photograph of himself, taken by the official police photographer, not the regular police, but no pleasant memento of his visit to the Four Courts—and one set of Bertillon measurements of himself, including all details, even to the degree of the eyes slant, the length of the queue, the tapering fineness of the fingernails, the exact shade of the sky-blue Oriental garb, which reached to the top of his feet; silk-embroidered slippers, and the size of the little round cap which crowned his high forehead.

All these things Mr. Chang intends to take to China with him and submit to the Inspector of Police at Shanghai for future reference.

Mr. Chang inquired minutely into the habits and mannerisms of American crooks and compared them to those of the law-breakers in the Celestial Kingdom. He told Mr. Desmond in particular, concerning the most believed him one of the greatest detectives in the world, and spoke of Col. Kiley as a fine police chief.

He said the meanest crook in China is the one who steals a cow, while the cutlasses Bret Harte's verses about the Heathen Chinee.

The Chinese trunk thief, Mr. Chang said, carries his false work at the railroad stations. He carries at the railroad trunk one to two trunks below.

He always keeps his hands around until he locates a "good" trunk, one that has the earmarks of containing valuable property, and then steals it and slips it over the "good" one. The rest is easy.

When it comes to placing the trunk, the thief goes to work, and always snugly concealed inside the skeleton.

There is "nothing to it." Mr. Chang has his trunk delivered to him, and then has no trouble claiming it when it arrives at its destination. Of course, the good trunk must be sold by its owner, but that's all out missed.

Chief Desmond told Mr. Chang that the country girls of Ireland worked in their country only with valises instead of trunks. Then Desmond told some stories about the English, who have the same books, lone train robbers, porch climbers, boudoirs, safe blowers, etc., and the visitors' eyes fairly glowed with interest. He mentioned the four fine crosses centered in the world, in a manner that indicated he was induced to be a bit jealous of local pride.

Chief Desmond described the various crooks in regular police phraseology, and, after a few words, added: "I have told before Mr. Wong could digest it."

Mr. Chang was also shown the gallows, the police laboratory and other police workings. He was not prepared to state whether or not the St. Louis method involved any of the 75 modes of capital punishment in vogue in China, but he seemed highly pleased.

After going away from the Four Courts, Chang took occasion to thank the police officials for their kind attention to him and his family since he arrived.

The distinguished visitor attracted a great deal of attention at police headquarters, and the police crowded him for a picture, crowded about him and vie with each other in their efforts to "rap" to him.

LEAD PIPE THIEVES ARE BUSY

During Lunch Hour They Invade Saloons, Cut the Pipes, Causing Premises to Be Flooded.

Downtown saloon keepers are searching for lunch-hour lead pipe thieves.

They think a band of sneak thieves has organized to cut lead pipe in St. Louis during the midday hour.

The drinkmixers are usually busy at this hour and it is comparatively easy for the vandals to go into the cellar or rear of the causing the place to be flooded.

Within the past few days the thieves have visited Healy's saloon, on Third street, opposite the Merchants' Exchange Parlor, on Walnut street, between Broadway and Sixth street and Al Smith's saloon, at Eleventh and Chestnut streets.

YOUNG GIRL VICTIM OF DRUGS

Miss Atwood Remembers Nothing After Drinking Beer in Summer Garden.

Leona Atwood, who lives with her aunt, Mrs. Wyatt, at 204 Eads avenue, was taken to the City Hospital Saturday morning unconscious. She was found on a Chouteau avenue car at Fourteenth and Chestnut streets by Policemen Noonan and Kellor of the Central district.

At the time Leona Atwood was treated for poison, and the physicians say she had been given "knockout drops." She admits having drunk a glass of beer with two young men at a summer garden. She will recover.

"GIVE ME A GUN!" CRIED MR. HERZOG

With it He Merrily Captured a Burglar on Delmar Boulevard.

LARGE CROWD FOLLOWED HIM

With His Little Revolver He Marched His Man Through the Streets to a Policeman.

After a chase, which led him over high fences, through alleys and yards and even through the rooms of a West End home, H. E. Herzog captured a burglar whom he saw emerging from the dining room at the residence of his father-in-law, Theodore U. Harris, 3205 Washington boulevard, at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Herzog's shouts of "Stop the thief!" and "Bring me a revolver!" drew men, women and boys into the pursuit and half a dozen revolvers were placed at his disposal.

With the aid of one of these he captured the fugitive, who had a barn in the rear of the residence of Dr. Pinckney French at 3301 Delmar boulevard, after a run of a block and a half.

With a pistol leveled at the man's head and a crowd of shouting, excited men and boys gathered about, Herzog then marched his prisoner along Delmar and Vandeventer avenue to Washington and Vandeventer, where the police took charge of him.

The prisoner gave his name as Harry Arthur. He gained an entrance to the dining room of the Harris home through an open door and out of the house. The servants were out and the family in the front yard.

Mr. Herzog Saved Him Departing.

He had completed his work and was leaving the place when Herzog walked around the house and saw him. He carried on his back a big pack, which he dropped as he caught sight of Herzog, breaking into a run.

Herzog shouted for help and gave chase. The fugitive dashed into the alley and came through the back of a high board fence, the rear of a Delmar home. There he stopped an instant and glanced back. Herzog was only a few yards behind.

A chorus of shouts from boys running from Vandeventer avenue and of servants from the Harris home followed him as he responded in Herzog's calls and the upper room sounded like that of a pursuing mob.

The fugitive said he was at the jump and ran through the yard and across the houses on Delmar boulevard into the street.

The uproar had already brought a small crowd into the street. After trying to stop the man it ran after him.

WATCHMAN TRUE TO TRUST

In Defending Property He Kills One Assailant and Seriously Wounds Another.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Shattering his lantern over the head of one of three men who attacked him last night, A. C. Rogers, a watchman for the Forbes Teaming Co., fatally shot another of his assailants. The wounded man died at the county hospital. From papers found in his possession he is supposed to be Charles J. Allen, a sailor.

The shooting followed an alleged burglary and struggle, in which the watchman was the aggressor. The other two men, who were at the scene, the watchman was lying unconscious over the body of the dying man had fled.

SUNDAY WILL BE A SUN DAY

Light Southerly Winds Will Keep the Temperature Just About Right for Picnics.

The weather bureau has provided the very best it has in store for Saturday night and Sunday.

"During the summer season, when people want to get out and sun Sunday," says the weather bureau, "the best" is the way to go.

Mr. Dowle, the forecaster official, looks at it.

"Fair and warm Sunday night and Sunday, light and fresh southerly winds," is the official forecast.

It may be hot Sunday day, for it is hot in many parts of the country, and a very warm weather too hot, but if it does get light change in the temperature will turn hot, just get in the shade and wait for the light and fresh southerly winds.

He awoke again about 4 o'clock, and looking toward his wife, was frightened by her paleness. He felt of her forehead, and found that she was dead. Dr. George Borgelt was summoned, but could do nothing for the woman.

McDonald said his wife had been subject to the spells of illness for some time, and had been taking powders for two weeks, as they were the only medicines which brought her relief. Dr. Borgelt did not believe the death was due to natural causes, and notified the coroner.

CREDULOUS WOMEN CAUGHT BY SWINDLE

Ingenious Scheme on Gigantic Scale
Nets Perpetrators Thousands of Dollars

NEW YORK, July 25.—Hundreds of credulous women in this city and throughout the country have been taken in by the ingenious swindles launched by the swindlers of the world, who are the agents and just run to cover in Detroit.

Each victim was騙ed to the extent of from $15 to $25, the sum aggregating many thousands of dollars. The fraud was perpetrated under the name of a league of women, the alleged objects of which are women's suffrage, national temperance, etc.

Owing to the similarity of the name with that of the National Organization, the work of securing victims was easy.

The advertisements were published here early in July for local secretaries to whom money and services were offered.

Those who answered were the recipients of glowing letters and usually received checks for $15 to $25 on the exchange.

The intending secretary was warned that reduced rates of fare could be secured by the swindlers.

The check was hurriedly cashed in almost every instance and was never tested.

The seekers of employment therefore was minus $15 in good money which presumably fell into the hands of the swindlers in Cleveland.

Charles Hertel Killed Himself Because Ill Health Prevented Him From Attending College.

Charles Hertel, 30 years old, son of Dr. Henry Hertel of Farmington, and nephew of Prof. Charles Hertel of Belleville, shot himself through the heart in the garden back of his father's home Friday afternoon. He had been ill for several months and it was discovered because ill health prevented him from returning to Central Wesleyan College at Warrensburg, Mo., where he had been studying.

Charles Hertel had been sitting in the garden back of his country home, looking up at the moon, when he heard the shot. She ran to the garden and found the boy lying on the grass dead.

The coroner began the inquest Friday night and remained over until Saturday. The verdict was suicide.

A WASTE OF MONEY

IN FRUITLESS EFFORTS TO CURE STOMACH TROUBLE.

Not Artificial Digestion But Natural Digestion Is What's Needed—How This May be Obtained.

More money is spent experimenting with worthless medicines for stomach trouble than for any other disease. These preparations may temporarily aid digestion but they cannot cure indigestion. They go at the wrong way.

To permanently cure indigestion, dyspepsia or other stomach trouble, the medicine should act upon the digestive organs themselves—not upon their contents. It should not do the stomach's work but should make the stomach able to do its own work.

This is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will do as no other medicine can. They are not composed of digestive ferments, which promote an artificial digestion, but they tone up the stomach, restore the weakened functions of the digestive organs and thereby promote natural digestion. A case in point is that of Arthur McLaughlin, of No. 2738 North Lincoln street, Chicago, Ill. He says:

"For a long time I was troubled with severe pains in the stomach—a case of chronic indigestion. I would feel a craving for food, but when I ate I experienced those wretched pains which nearly drove me distracted. My kidneys also became affected. I tried several different stomach medicines and, for a while they seemed to help me. Then the same old pains would come back. This went on for nearly two years and at times I was pretty much discouraged."

"One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I did so. Before I finished a box the pains were less frequent and less severe, y the time I had finished three the pains were a thing of the past.

Now I can eat anything and enjoy it and I feel like a new man."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will not only cure stomach trouble but will also assist in the cure of seasickness from unfevered blood and shattered nerves. They are sold by dealers of all kinds and will be sent postpaid on request for 10 cents a box or 10 for 50 cents and fifty cents by mail.

KEENE BROKEN IN SPIRIT, BUT NOT IN CASH

Financial Collapse of Son-in-Law Attributed to Revenge of Rockefeller, Harriman and Others For War on Union Pacific.

WALL STREET CLIQUE

SEEK PLUNGER'S SCALP

Blows Aimed at Talbot J. Taylor Really Intended For Keene, Who Feels Failures More Than Anything Else in Speculative Career

Special to the Post Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Talbot J. Taylor attributes his financial collapse to the revenge of E. H. Harriman, John D. Rockefeller, W. C. Whitney and others whom he and James R. Keene have antagonized, notably in the Southern Pacific deal.

According to Mr. Keene, in his war on Union Pacific and Metropolitan, he intended to be at the bottom of the downfall of his son-in-law's house. Deadly blows meant for him were aimed at the firm by some of the most powerful interests in Wall street, who are said to have united to get Keene's scalp and put an end to his career in Wall street.

Edward H. Harriman and John D. Rockefeller had been sitting with the leading part in the relentless war. As early as April, Talbot J. Taylor declared in an interview that "Harriman and his friends were the ones that had him disengaged because ill health prevented him from returning to Central Wesleyan College at Warrensburg, Mo., where he had been studying."

Charles Hertel had been sitting in the garde

den back of his country home, looking up at the moon, when he heard the shot. She ran to the garden and found the boy lying on the grass dead.

The coroner began the inquest Friday night and remained over until Saturday. The verdict was suicide.

Keene Talks

Like Broken Man.

James R. Keene, the man who had passed through the most dramatic vicissitudes and many defeats in his long career in Wall street, is like a broken man, as he sits in his apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria and talks of the failure of his son-in-law's firm. There was just a little bit of bitterness in his voice and he shows plainly that this failure has hurt him more than any other incident in his life.

"My own fortune and the fortune of my family not impaired," said Mr. Keene. "I lost my fortune, for it was the largest unsecured credit of the firm, Talbot J. Taylor, but as I said my fortune is safe."

"How about the report that you recently settled $5,000,000 on your wife, $5,000,000 on your son-in-law, $5,000,000 on your daughter?"

Mr. Keene was asked:

"I won't say anything about the amounts," replied Mr. Keene.

Thought it Best to Save Himself.

"I guess I'll lose about $1,500,000 through this failure," he continued. "I had no connection with the firm, except that I did business with it, but had just entered there, it is true, but was not connected in any way, further than Talbot J. Taylor, who I said my fortune is safe."

"How about the report that you recently settled $5,000,000 on your wife, $5,000,000 on your son-in-law, $5,000,000 on your daughter?"

Mr. Keene was asked:

"I won't say anything about the amounts," replied Mr. Keene.

Mr. Keene Was Overloaded.

"I am annoyed at this thing, because I think they have been improvident and allowed themselves to be stuck by several people."

"Who stuck them?"

"Will you care to say except that they were stuck by certain parties."

"Will you help them to resume business?"

This question was not answered directly, but the indirect answer was very positive.

Mr. Keene said: "I am such a hopeless market as we have. When you can get such stocks as United States Steel preferred for 8%, it is not good business to buy it."

They had a large amount of investment securities which could not be sold.

"The market was too bad to help him through any longer?"

"They had a large amount of investment securities which could not be sold."

"They had a large amount of investment securities which could not be sold."

"What class of securities were they overloaded in?"

"I do not care to say further than that they have acted very imprudently and got themselves in a hole they ought not have got into."

"I am not embarrassed. I am only annoyed."

Mr. Keene declined to give out any set statement. He seemed to take the gloomiest view of the financial situation.

No Further Information.

No additional information concerning the affairs of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. and W. L. Stow & Co. were obtainable this morning. The clerical forces of both firms were at work examining the books, assets and liabilities of Taylor & Britt, the assignee of Taylor & Co. He said that he might have a statement later in the day.

Investors replace the liabilities of Taylor & Co. at not less than $3,000,000.

James R. Keene was at the office of Taylor & Co. and was held by the assignee.

The assignee of Stow & Co. said that he would not be able to file even an approximate schedule of assets and liabilities before Monday.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The suspension of the great stock exchange house of Talbot J. Taylor & Co. was the sensational climax of stirring scenes in Wall street yesterday.

Just previous to that the reliable old firm of W. L. Stow & Co. was placed in the hands of Philip Britt, the assignee of Taylor & Co.

It was said that the assignee of Taylor & Co. would be held responsible for the debts of the firm.

THEIR VACATION MEANT MATRIMONY TO MR. CHALFANT AND MISS FLOTRON

MRS. ALFRED CHALFANT, JR.

They Planned for Recreation at the Same Time and Merrily Elope to St. Charles.

When Alfred Chalfant, Jr., of 3307 Franklin avenue and Miss Zera Flotron of 203 Coleman street, arranged to take their vacations they did not tell their friends that they were going to be married. Even Miss Flotron's parents did not know that the wedding was contemplated.

Wednesday night at the Park Hotel, Miss Flotron planned to have her cousin, Miss Hickman of 4520 Cote Brilliante avenue, for a visit. When she did not return on Friday to meet her music pupils, Mrs. Flotron gave her address as Kansas City to escape the notice that might be sent to the St. Louis papers.

On Saturday morning, however, the young couple were seen in the lobby of the hotel, and they were soon followed by the bride's parents.

Both the bride and groom were dressed in their best attire.

Young Mothers

Young married women must remember that the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation.

A capable mother must be a healthy mother; the birth of the first child is an especially trying experience, and nature needs all the help it can get. Correct and practical counsel is of the most vital importance to the would-be mother. Mrs. Pinkham's advice at such times, together with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have guided many a young woman through this trying experience with the happiest possible results. Her advice is that of a mother with an experience with thousands of such cases, and given entirely free.

By special permission we publish the following three letters, showing the absolute necessity of proper care and advice at the time of maternity. That of Mrs. Sexton illustrates the dangers of maternity. That of Mrs. Hanson the suffering during the period; and that of Mrs. Massey the troubles that may beset a young mother after child-birth; and they all illustrate the wonderful value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Mrs. Lillie Sexton, Ashland, Ky., Boyd Co., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you in Sept., 1900. I had been married two years and had two miscarriages, one at six months and one at seven. My organs were very weak. You advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I began at once and used 13 bottles.

"In June, 1901, I again expected to become a mother, and now I have a fine baby girl, two months' old. I took the Compound all the time during pregnancy. I cannot praise your remedies enough."

Mrs. Karianna Hanson, Box 343, Worthington, Minn., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to send you my sincere thanks for your kind advice and for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am grateful for the letter of advice you have done me.

"When I wrote you I did not see a well day. I was to become a mother, and had headache, dizziness, poor appetite, was nervous, had pains and cramps in abdomen and swollen feet.

"After following your advice I soon began to feel better. When I had taken four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt real well. My baby when three months' old weighed over twenty pounds.

"I cannot praise your wonderful medicine enough, and would advise all suffering women to write to you and use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. M. M. Massey, Sulphur Springs, Texas, says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will tell you what I think about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I think it is a wonderful medicine. I believe it has no equal.

"When one of my children was just five weeks old I took a set-back and came near dying. I was bed two weeks. The doctor attended me about a week and I got no better. My bowels would nearly kill me at times, only easy when under the influence of opium. It seemed at times there were knots in my bowels as large as my fist. I had such pain in my left side. I suffered as much as I did when my baby was born."

"I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound one evening, and by the next day I was nearly easy. I will always praise your medicine."

Surely such endorsement should dispel doubt from the minds of all hesitating women. After reading such letters, if any woman is willing to remain sick, we can only say it is her own fault and she deserves to suffer; for the medicine that has benefited these women and hundred thousand others will surely help you.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

FIRST REGIMENT IS COMPLIMENTED

Chaplain Patillo Says it Had Nothing to Do with Camp Disturbances.

CAMP DARMON ON LAKE CONTRARY, St. Joseph, Mo., July 25.—Col. C. E. Patillo, of the First Regiment of the Missouri National Guard of St. Louis is greatly pleased at a letter, which he has just received from Regimental Chaplain C. E. Patillo, in which the members of the regiment are not only cleared of participation in the disturbances of the week in camp, but also given a hearty compliment.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 23, 1903.

To Col. Sinclair and Officers of the First Regt.

I desire to express to you, Colonel, and through you to the officers of the First Regiment, my sincere appreciation of your conduct and uniform courtesy given me during the encampment. I consider myself fortunate in having been associated with such a noble body of gentlemen.

I shall trouble you and your officers upon the decommission and departure of the men composing the First Regiment.

I desire to express to you, Colonel, and through you to the officers of the First Regiment, my sincere appreciation of your conduct and uniform courtesy given me during the encampment. I consider myself fortunate in having been associated with such a noble body of gentlemen.

Again thanking you for the courtesy, I remain,

C. E. PATILLO, Chaplain.

The high praise coming from a man of soldierly character, is exceedingly agreeable.

Capt. Rosenfeld of Company L, is officer of the day Saturday and Lieut. Hauser of Company A is officer of the guard.

CITY FIREMEN MAY BE GRADED

Ordinance Being Prepared Provides for Classification of Fire Fighters and Raises Pay.

St. Louis firemen will be graded according to their stations, services and the danger they incur, if an ordinance now in committee is passed by the municipal assembly.

It has the support of Fire Chief Swindell and the suggestion of the commanding officers and officers of the regiment.

Again thanking you for the courtesy, I remain,

C. E. PATILLO, Chaplain.

Two women passengers on the car fainting, were rescued. They were Miss Schwartz, living at King Highway and Manchester avenue, and Mrs. G. C. Both were rescued at Franklin Avenue. Both were resuscitated at Franklin Avenue and taken home on street cars.

FIREMAN SAVES INVALID WOMAN

John Howe Rescues Mrs. Haas From a Fire That Was Attended With Exciting Circumstances.

Fireman John Howe, a veteran member of engine company No. 29, is nursing a new badge of honor in the form of painful burns which he received in rescuing Mrs. Nicholas Haas, an invalid, living at 518 Manchester avenue, from what threatened to engulf the entire rear of the notation, store of Clement Terry, 523 Manchester avenue, Friday afternoon.

He climbed a burning stairway into a house filled with fire and smoke and finding Mrs. Haas practically unconscious in the second floor carried her to safety. Mrs. Haas was severely burned before the fireman reached her.

The fire for some time threatened to consume the entire block. A high wind spread it from 514 to 524 Manchester street as it came from the rear of the building in the same, and it was eating its way rapidly, both directions and even threatening to spread to buildings in the rear on Vandeventer avenue. The department soon had the flames under control, however, and the total loss did not exceed $300, partly covered by insurance.

In the run to the fire hose reel No. 29 collided with a Market street car as it came from the rear of the building in the same, and it was eating its way rapidly, both directions and even threatening to spread to buildings in the rear on Vandeventer avenue. The department soon had the flames under control, however, and the total loss did not exceed $300, partly covered by insurance.

NOW EVERYBODY CAN RIDE.

Construction of World's Fair Miniature Railroad Will Soon Begin.

The concession for the miniature railway that is expected to be a transportation feature of the World's Fair, especially serving the visitors to the fair, has been let and the concessionaire states that the actual work of construction will begin not later than Sept. 1.

The road will be eight miles long and will traverse Lindell boulevard and The Pike past Jerusalem, the twin restaurant pines, the German national pavilion, the "Mining Gulch," the Missouri pavilion, and traverse the grounds of the State fair and to Stalter's Hotel within the grounds.

The round trip fare will be 10 cents, and each train will have a capacity of 100 adults.

The ordinance will establish different grades into which the firemen will be placed according to the service they render.

The men in the downtown districts who respond to many alarms daily and are always in danger will comprise the first grade, while those in the suburbs and the residence districts, who make few runs and encounter little danger, will be in the lower grades.

No fireman's salary will be reduced by the change.
